Blackboard for Government:

Empowering IT modernization and application consolidation through one enterprise-level learning ecosystem

Blackboard for Government presents busy IT leaders an opportunity for IT governance through consolidating data centers, optimizing IT resources, and ultimately saving money. By leveraging our enterprise level learning ecosystem for training and development, both IT and employees win. The Blackboard for Government solution allows organizations to launch just in time training in a scalable and cost efficient way. And, with a focus on directly impacting business, this solution will free up time for valuable IT resources and allow them to spend less time answering “how to’s” and more time on mission critical tasks.

Our learning ecosystem

How we help

Evaluate and analyze operational risks

If your employees aren't up to speed on new technology or initiatives, this introduces risks to your operation. By leveraging Blackboard, management can easily identify those who haven't participated in critical training initiatives to better understand and evaluate the potential business impact on your organization.

Retain your top IT talent

When top-level talent moves out of the organization, it can be quite devastating. We've helped companies like Allstate & Bayer retain and grow their top talent. Avoid losing the top 20% of your talent by powering skills development training with Blackboard for Government.

Support employees wherever they are

Today's employees are more on the go and virtual than ever which makes it increasingly challenging to keep everyone engaged and in the loop. Our virtual classroom solution and mobile learning options will ensure that distance doesn't put a damper on your training initiatives.

Shrink the skills gap

The growing skills gap is a top concern of most IT professionals today. As hiring managers begin to focus on attitudes and aptitude, investments will need to be made in training programs that can keep employee skills in line with business requirements. Blackboard for Government provides a proven and reliable foundation that supports a wide variety of ongoing training.
